SF Greenland is a very late flowering rape with traditional maturity. It is very leafy from the base of the plant and holds its quality.

Due to its late flowering, SF Greenland is well suited to sowing during from late summer until spring. It is consistently producing high yields when sown for either winter or summer feed.

Sowing rate: 3-4 kg/ha

Maturity: 10-12 weeks after sowing

---

Relative Forage Ratings - relative to industry standards

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cultivar</th>
<th>sowing rate</th>
<th>grazings</th>
<th>maturity</th>
<th>flowering</th>
<th>Initial yield</th>
<th>Regrowth</th>
<th>Total yield</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SF Greenland</td>
<td>3-5kg/ha</td>
<td>multiple</td>
<td>70-90 days</td>
<td>Very late</td>
<td>109</td>
<td>119</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Winfred</td>
<td>3-5kg/ha</td>
<td>multiple</td>
<td>70-90 days</td>
<td>late</td>
<td>100</td>
<td>100</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* relative forage ratings based on data from trials sown Cressy 2003, Gundagai 2006 (3 timings) and 2007 (2 timings).

---

The Bottom Line:

10% more feed than Winfred